About the conference

The International Conference on Network and Service Management (CNSM) is the premier annual single-track conference in the general area of network and service management. CNSM is a highly-selective venue for presenting and discussing the latest innovations, results and developments in managing networks, pervasive systems, enterprise and cloud environments, that is attended by foremost experts in this area from academia and industry.

The main single-track technical program is usually complemented by workshops, keynote speeches, a distinguished experts panel session and poster sessions. For more information about previous CNSM editions, please visit cnsm-conf.org.

CNSM 2016 is supported by IFIP, technically Co-Sponsored by IEEE Communications Society, and In-cooperation with ACM SIGCOMM.
